Please join the Security Sector Assistance Team along with TSA's Office of Global Strategies in the Commons to discuss the form, function, and impact of efforts to plan and coordinate DHS participation in foreign partner capacity building.

Security sector assistance is a powerful and essential element of U.S. foreign policy, intended to enable foreign partners' capability to work with the United States on common security issues and concerns. This assistance often serves as "seed money," providing core security program support or unique U.S.-sourced equipment, training, and expertise. When combined with the political will and investment of the foreign security partner, this assistance can often provide significant gains in international security while minimizing direct costs to the U.S. taxpayer.

Please join PLCY and TSA as they discuss the details of this exciting new work. Bring your lunch and questions!

Katie-

I have cc'ed (b)(6) who is the lead for engagement at CRCL. His team is the one that developed these two programs. I spoke with him and he said he would be happy to arrange a demonstration of the programs and answer questions.
